

Chinese Herbs

Chinese herbs are usually dispensed as powders that are mixed in moist food (usually canned). Many are also available in tablet or capsule form. The dose is measured using a one-gram spoon (shown here), and depends on the size of the animal. For finicky pets, start with a small amount and gradually increase to the prescribed amount.